NAPPANEE HIGH SCHOOL • NAPPANEE, INDIANA

1878—FIRST GRADUATING CLASS 1898

1916—FIRST GRADUATING CLASS 1918

1956—FIRST GRADUATING CLASS 1958

Linking the Years

The first school in Nappanee was a small wooden frame building. The one constructed in 1878, with two additional frame buildings, served the community until 1916 when the Nappanee High School was built. Our school again out-grew its facilities, making it imperative to have two new buildings, one for the grades and the second one the beautiful modern East Side School into which the junior and senior high schools moved in 1958.

The Class of 1958 is the sixtieth class graduating from N. H. S.

Physical education and health classes go hand in hand in developing a physically and mentally fit student.

Learn by Doing

At N. H. S. we practice the "Learn by Doing" method. This method has proven profitable to both the students and the teachers. These pages are a living example of what our "Learn by Doing" method consists.

Bonnie Cain, Pat Martin, Glenda Dumph, Charlotte Stickel, Joyce Welty, Donna Stone, Marguerite Wagner, Carol Weldy, Dixie Hare and Peggy Lakins are assembling D'Bulldog in the advanced typing class.

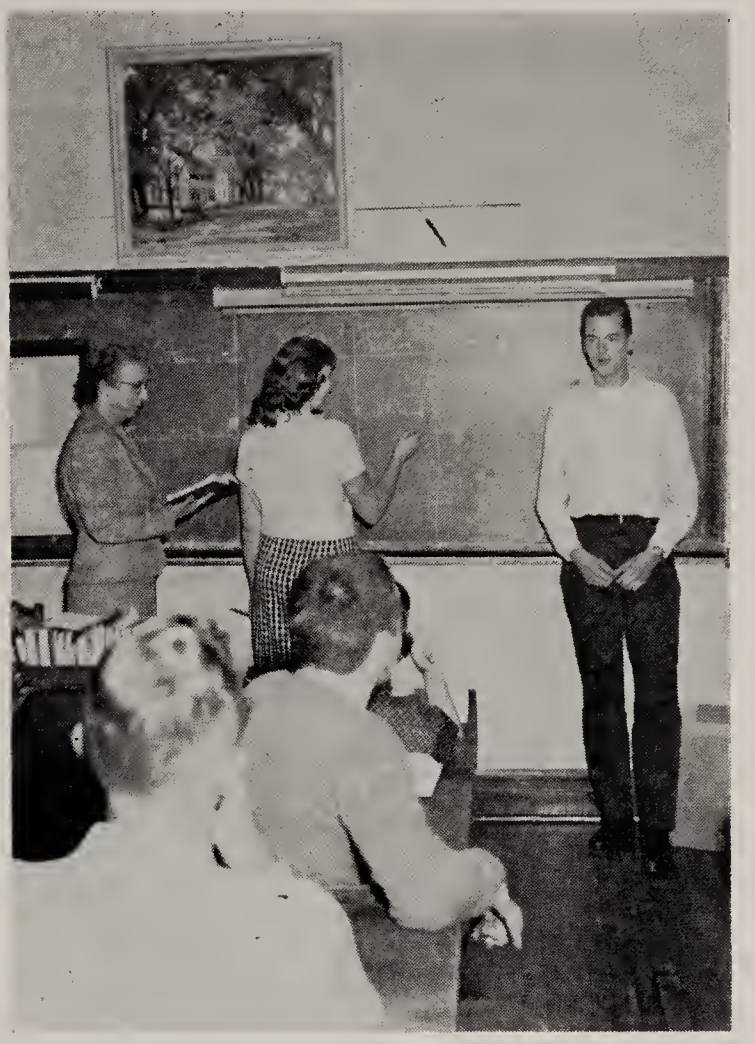
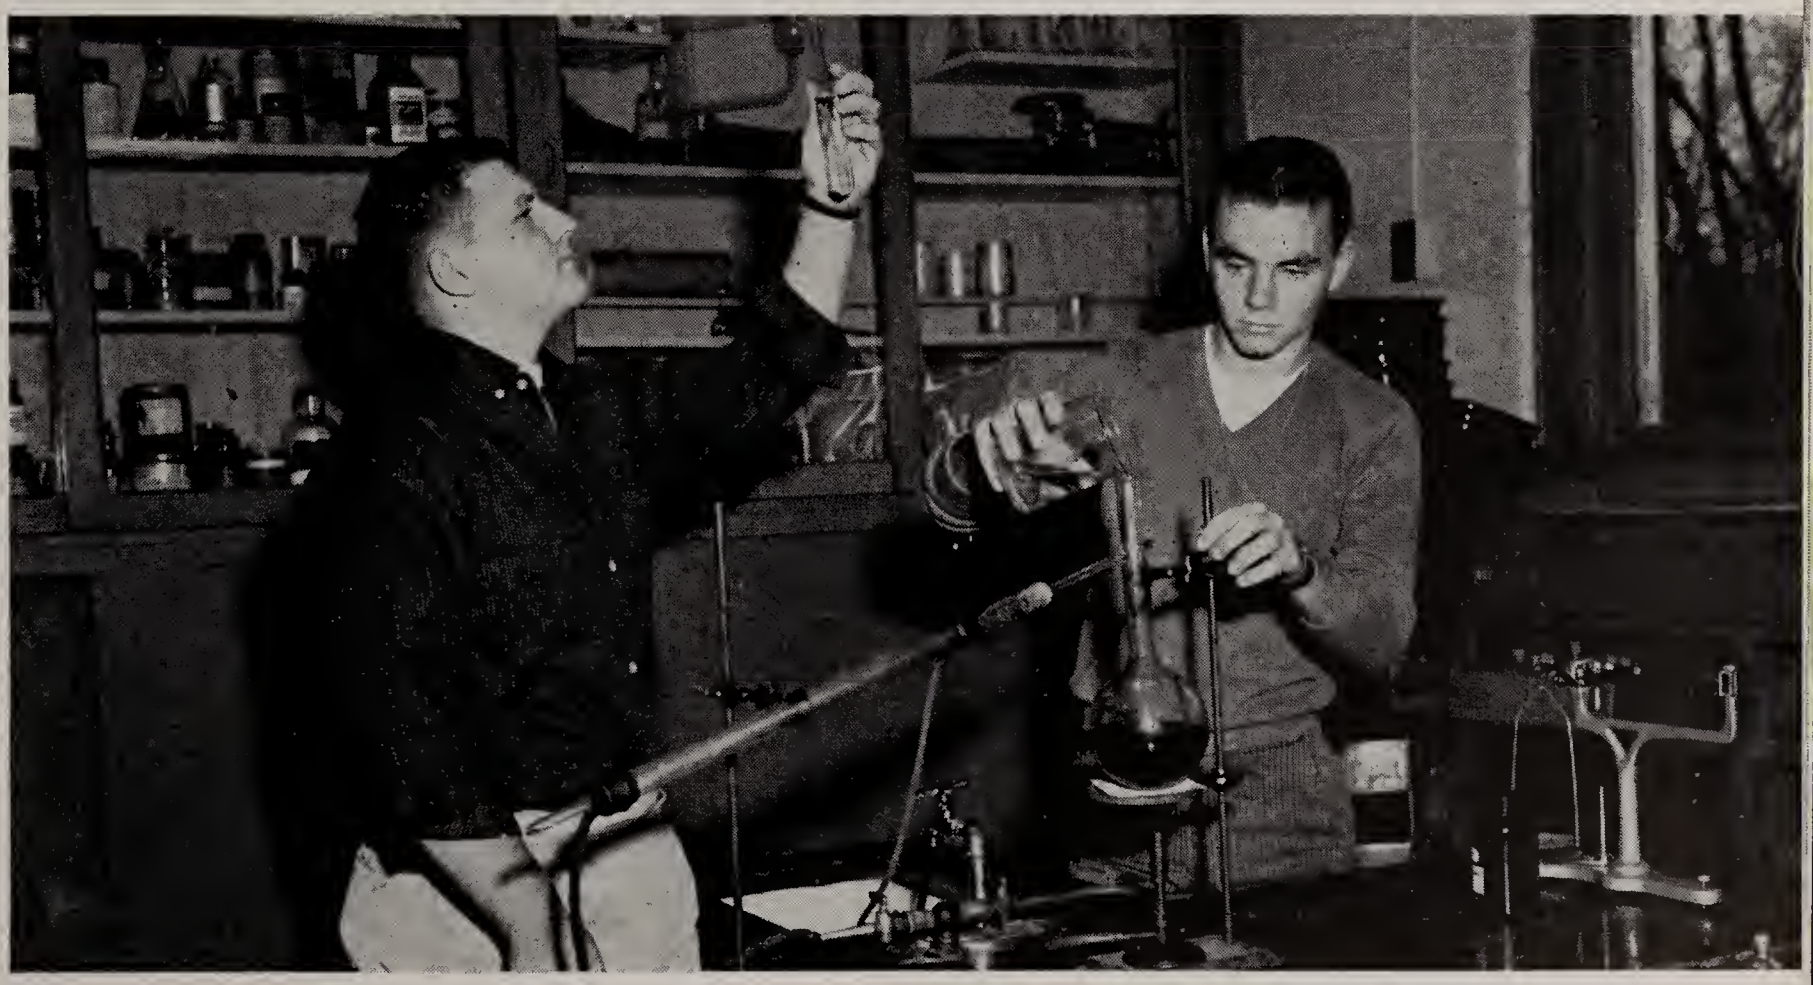
Dorothy Martin is explaining a problem to a puzzled Fred Hunsberger in advanced algebra class. Jack Stump, Bill Stouder, Carol Hahn, and Larry Cripe feign attention.



Mrs. Miles is instructing Peggy Lakins and Carl Augustine relative to a principle of good English while Carol Sue Hahn, Jim Hamsher, and Fred Hunsberger look interested.

Gene Heckaman and Jim Hamsher are working on a chemistry experiment.



Building Our

The purpose of our school is to prepare the students for the future. Our mathematics and science courses teach us how to think. Originality is developed in art and shop classes. Physical fitness is stressed in gym and health classes. Typing, shorthand, and general business are for those, who after high school, wish to enter into business careers. English not only teaches students the mechanics of good writing, but it also helps students to discover how to express their ideas. Government strives to develop intelligent voters and citizens. Economics is the science that deals with the art of making a living. All of these courses help the student to gain personal confidence and to develop a well-rounded personality.

Mary Kindig, Dianna Evans and LaVonda Stahly helped to prepare a meal for the home eeonomies class.

Steve Quigley admired Jerry Ganshorn's and Fred Hunsberger's meehanieal drawing projeets.

Larry Riley, Stanley Thomas, and other seniors discussed the latest world news in eeonomies elass.

Mr. Hendricks is instructing Kent Stuckman, Steve Price, and Bob Farrington in the mechanism of the motor.

The art class is busily working on the drawing of figures in the newly-equipped art room. Shown are Larry Stutzman, Ronald Wilson, Judy Lewis, and Pauline Ketzel.

Presenting the 1958 Queen and Court

Pat Thompson was chosen by the student body to be the 1958 Blue and White Sports Queen. Pat and her court, which included senior attendants Tish Nettrour and Pat Martin, junior attendant Sandra Smith, sophomore attendant Marietta Holderman, and freshman attendant Sandra Thomas, were presented at the Middlebury game and reigned over a dance following the game.

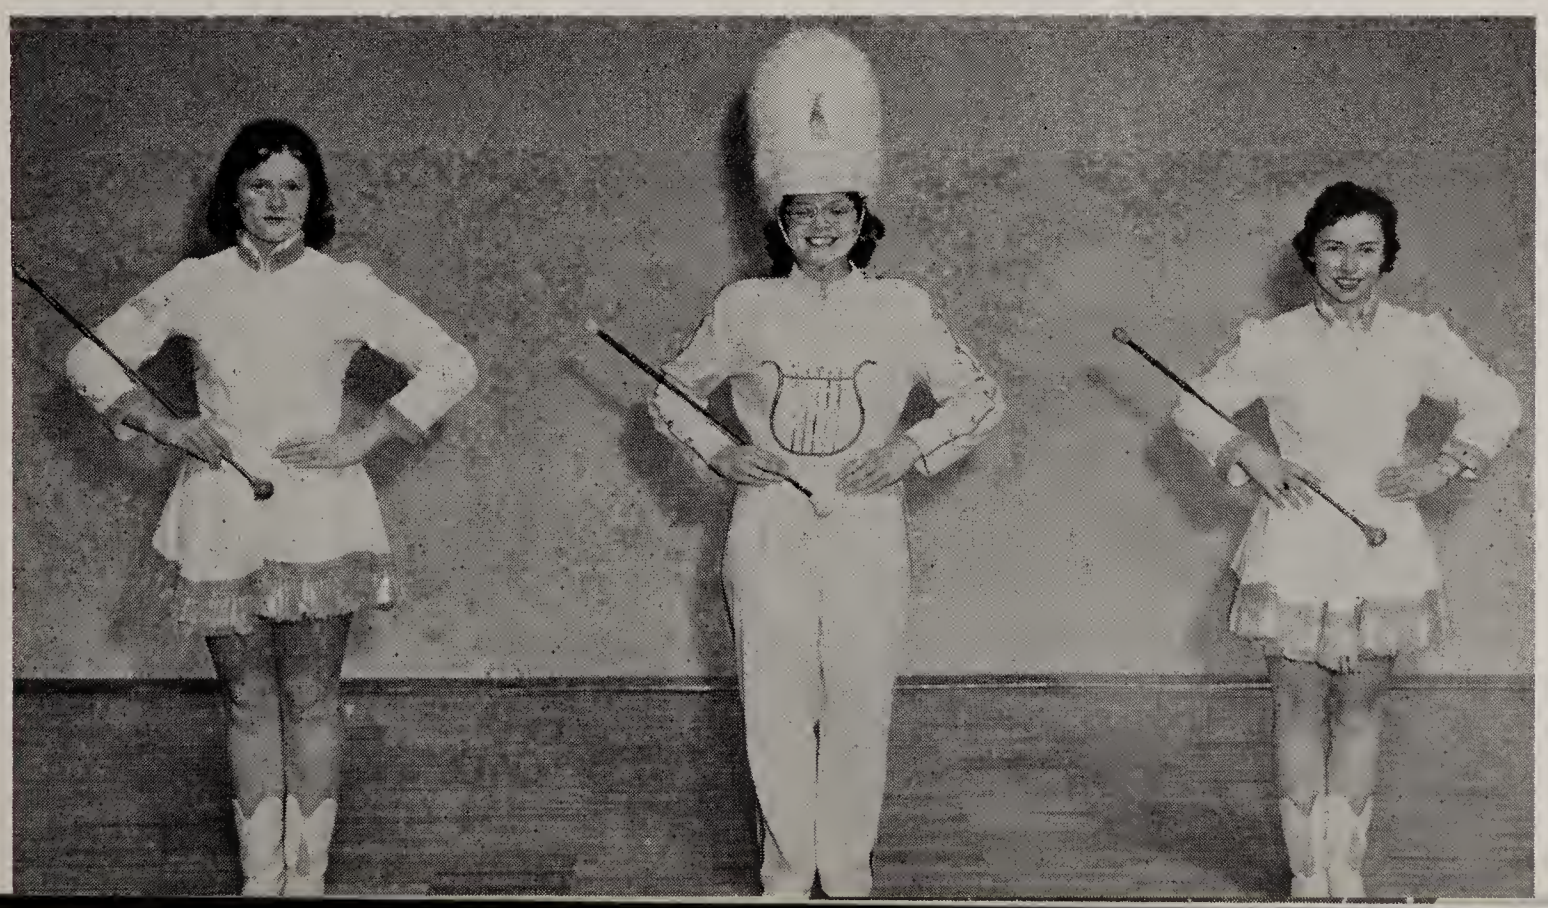
Gary Culp, Linda Heckaman, Vonda Wysong, and Dixie Hare were our capable cheerleaders.

Introducing Cheerleaders and Twirlers

During the year the cheerleaders led the cheering block at all football and basketball games. They also planned and directed all pep sessions.

The twirlers climaxed the season by presenting a spectacular half time show at our last home football game. Veteran Drum Major Susie Field skillfully led the marching band for four years.

Connie Haney, Susie Field, and Pat Leer executed fancy twirlings.



The Year Rolls

SEPTEMBER:

4. Early to bed early to rise, summer's over and school's arrived!
6. The Eagles tried, but the Bulldogs tanned their hide.
10. Martha told Y-Teens about her stay at Y-Teen Camp, today.
    Seniors ordered their pictures today. Later they will be used to scare the rats away.
14. Seniors sold at the first wrestling match. Hey, Mr. Wrestler, don't you know you're not to bite or scratch?
18. Hide your pocketbooks, men; here come those "magazine happy" juniors again.
20. Third in a row! Let's go, go, GO!
24. Do we have to? "Oh, I'm sick!" was the sophomores' cry at the Y-Teen picnic.
    The Bulldogs lowered the boom and the Jimmies met their doom.
27. Although there were doubtful opinions, the Nappanee Bulldogs reversed the decision.
    Vonda, Jim, and Dick are the officers who help make the chorus tick.

OCTOBER:

4. The Bulldogs were up to par; so the Red Devils didn't get far.
8. The band sweaters arrived! Just look at the stars in the seniors' eyes.
    Group pictures for the Napanet were snapped; gee, I'll bet that camera lens cracked.
11. Six new members have we for the National Honor Society.
    The Rockies tossed the Bulldogs their first and only loss.
16. Senior girls set a precedent for others; they held a tea for freshman girls and their mothers.
18. The Bulldogs are back on the track—they knocked the Railroaders flat.
22. "Boy, that English and math were a mess!" That's what the seniors said of the Scholarship Test.
23. Knox was no better and the Bulldogs finished their season with an eight and one record!

24-25. Students took a vacation while the teachers went to State Teachers Association.

Mrs. Miles, Susie Field, Pat Thompson, Tish Nettrour, Dottie Ulery, Linda Jones, Dixie Hare and Carol Sue Hahn enjoyed the Y-Teen picnic. Connie Haney introduced fathers at Football "Fathers' Night." Bill Kendall, Gene Heckaman, Bill Stouder, and Eddie Combs helped to decorate for the chorus Christmas Concert. Jeanette Dean, Tish Nettrour, and Karen Spicher decorated the school windows at Christmas time.

On at N. H. S.

NOVEMBER:

1. N-Men and their dates had a picnic at Syracuse Lake.
2. Teen-Town had a hay ride. Believe me, it wasn't very warm outside.
12. That senior boy named Gene was named to the All-State Football Team.
15. The basketball team started out right; they beat the Tigers in a real good fight.
19. Goshen won, and the Bulldogs lost their first one.
20. Susie Field, we're mighty proud of you; we feel that the D.A.R. Good Citizen Award was just for you.
    Bulldogs set the pace in a nip and tuck race.
29. Bulldogs got beat and faced their second defeat.
30. Larry and Dixie were, by chance, Mr. and Miss-Print of the Journalism Dance.

DECEMBER:

6. What fun, we won!
10. Holidays will soon be here and the Y-Teen girls held a banquet for their mothers again.
13. Friday, and an unlucky day; but we still made hay.
15. The band and chorus combined to present a Christmas concert.
17. With little wear and tear we won the game fair and square.
20. The Christmas play was held on this date; now, no more school 'till '58.
22. The National Honor held a tea for past members of the Society.

27-28. We won the first but the second was reversed.

JANUARY:

1. The New Year's ball was held this day. Everyone had fun; agreed? O.K.
3. Although they were behind they beat us in an overtime.
10. Another overtime—this time fate was kind.
14. With little time to spare we beat Waky fair.
17. The Eagles got "All Shook Up" when the Bulldogs strutted their stuff!
24. The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow is Carol Sue; congratulations from all of us to you.

30-31. In the new school at last. Everyone's waiting for next Monday's class.

31. Try, try again; next time we will win.

Y-Teen girls decorated for the Mother-Daughter Tea. The annual Y-Teens Mother-Daughter Tea was a success. The Speech class presented the speech play. Dick Pletcher introduced Pruth McFarlin to student assembly.

FEBRUARY:

1. For the Vocal Solo and Ensemble Contest we rehearsed and rehearsed. Well, of course, we brought home some firsts.
4. Coming out of our slump we knocked Bremen ker-plunk!
7. They're falling back into their old habits again. I wish the habit were to win.
8. This time it was the band that worked and rehearsed; and they, also, came home with quite a few firsts.
14. We tried to score but our efforts were poor.
18-19. Drifts were made by lots of wind and snow. That's why there was no school, you know.
21. Pat Thompson was seen while she reigned over the Middlebury game as Blue and White Queen.

    The basketball season ends and the "58" seniors are Has Beens!!
22. This was the girls' chance to ask their favorites to the Valentine Dance.
26, 27, 28, and March 1—Tourney time left the Bulldogs behind.
28. National Honor has three members that are new: Jim H., Pat T., and Carol Sue.

MARCH:

2. People came from far and near to see our new school; or so I hear.
7. Final group pictures were taken. When Linda saw them, she must have been shaken.
8. Y-Teens sponsored a record hop. You should have seen those hep-cats rock.
14-15. Into Canada our senior band went and when they came home, most of their money was spent.
18, 19, 20. It was these three days that the seniors tried out for their class play.
21. The junior and senior bands gave a concert for us. Everyone enjoyed it, I trust.
24. Rehearsals began for the senior play. Soon the cast will know just what to say.
28. The chorus' singing of seasons 'round the year proved to be quite easy on the ear.
30. Did you go to the Science Fair? Many exhibits were to be seen there.

Senior letter winners were measured for jackets. Students observed a dedication of the new building. Students bought lunch tickets in the new school. Pat Thompson was crowned Blue and White Sports Queen.

APRIL:

2, 3 A movie called "The King of Kings" should to us a better meaning of Easter bring.

11. Tonight the N-Men received the awards that during the year they achieved.

16. Track time was here, a sure sign Spring was near.

19. At our second track meet those boys were fleet.

24-25. "Father Was a Housewife" was the name of the play that brought the seniors praise and fame.

26. Our boys weren't slow at Kokomo.

28. Bremen was good but we were better!

29. Pitty the poor junior who had to go and take a test to find out just how much he didn't know.

MAY:

6. County track meet; again let's win, win, WIN!

7. Washington High School Band was here; the only visiting band that we had this year.

9. At the sectional meet we shall try to dodge defeat.

12. The Nappanee High School Band dedicated this concert to the Mothers to show that they were appreciated.

23. Once again it's Reception time when the juniors and seniors will dance and dine.

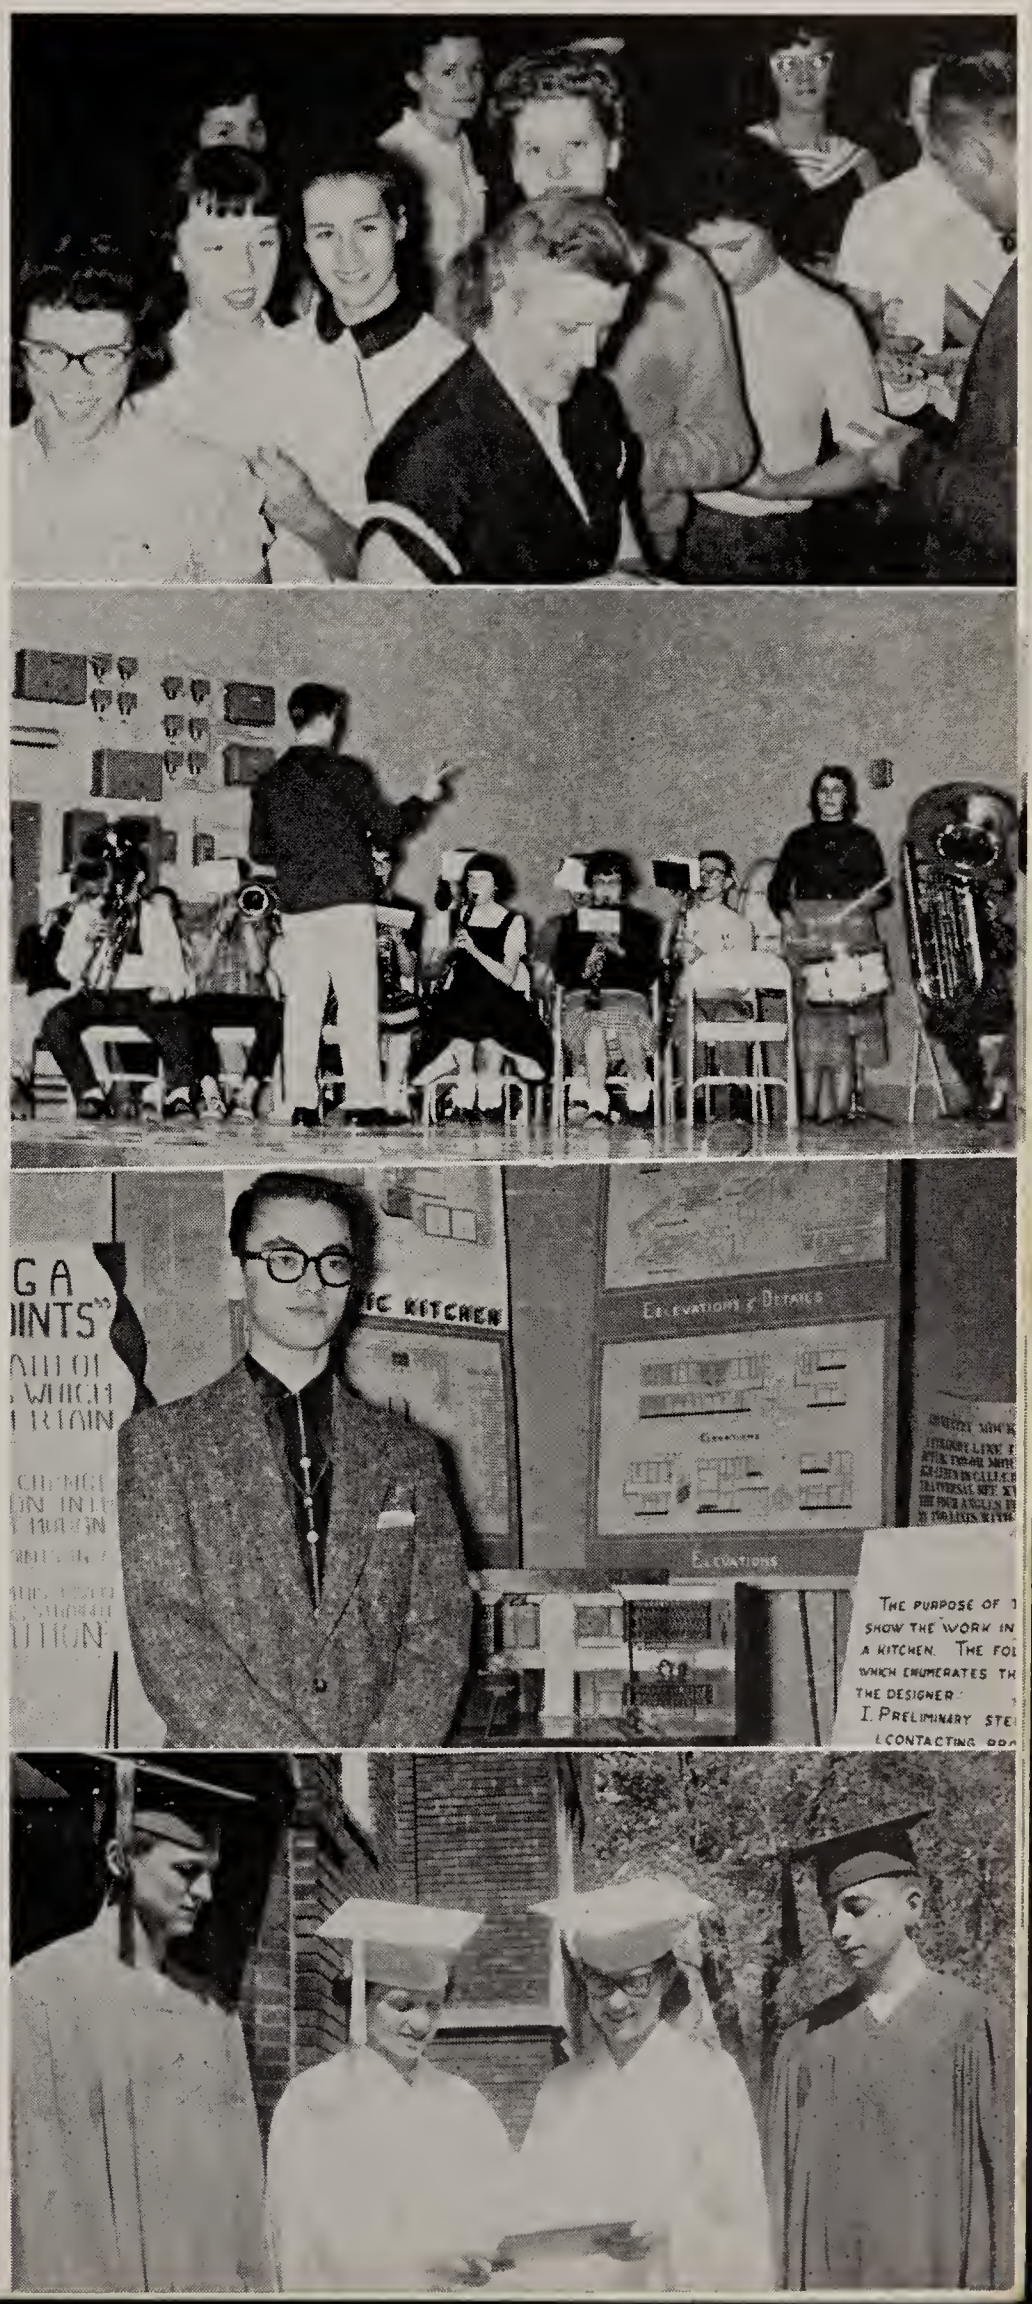
25. High school's ending for the "58" seniors. Baccalaureate will be one memory that will linger.

27. Class night is here when the seniors get recognition for four fine years.

29. Pomp and Circumstance, diplomas and tears; seniors look back on fond memories of the past twelve years.
Commencement ends high school for the "Class of 58" and sends them out the world to face.

30. The seniors departed, shine or rain. They're off to New York on a Choo-choo train.
The senior trip finds classmates together for the very last time.

Students purchased sectional tickets. Pep Band played at a pep session. Jim Clouse received an award at Science Fair. Seniors wore caps and gowns.



Dance Highlights

Included in the students' well rounded schedule are the ever popular high school dances. The important dances of this year were the Headline Hop, sponsored by the Napanet and the D'Bulldog staffs; the Y-Teens' WOWO Record Hop; and the New Year's Ball and the Heart Hop, sponsored by Teen Town.

Dixie Hare and Larry Cripe were chosen by the student body to reign over the Journalism Dance. They were titled Mister and Mis-Print.

Jane Rood, Steve Hockert, Linda Jones, and Larry Cripe appear to be enjoying themselves at the Headline Hop.

Projects, Projects, and

Dr. Ann Butler's successful practice keeps her away from home, husband Tom, and their high-school-age twins. Tom has stayed home to do the housekeeping and peck out songs on his battered old piano, two thousand of them, in fact, and all rejected by publishers.

When Father is nominated for "Mother of the Year" by a nosey but well-meaning neighbor, he wrathfully quits as housekeeper; so Ann moves her office into the living room—there to be both doctor and housewife; the combination proves to be too harrowing and she, too, quits.

Hank, the ex-vacuum salesman turned "song plugger," valiantly turns the trick by selling Father's songs and getting orders for more. Father once more indulges in limburger cheese and crackers for inspiration and returns to his apron, sweeper, and apple pies, concluding that it takes more than a house to make a home.

More Projects

The climax to the four years of high school is the traditional Senior Trip in the spring, which makes it necessary for all seniors to work very hard on their class projects in order to earn enough money to go touring. Seniors sold concessions at wrestling matches and basketball games throughout the year. They also sold candy at Christmas time.

In the fall the senior girls held a tea for the freshman girls and their mothers; and everyone helped to move from the old school into our new East Side School.

Glenda Dumph, Jim Hamsher, Karl Augustine, Larry Ryman, and Eddie Combs awaited their turns to receive the Christmas candy.

In N. H. S.

In N. H. S. we have a program consisting of not only academic subjects but also many extra-curricular activities.

We feel that these activities are important in developing the whole student.

From the following pages you will learn what our extra-curricular program really is.

The Honor Students of N. H. S.

The National Honor Society selected as their officers Eddie Combs, Dorothy Martin, and Fred Hunsberger.

Scholarship, service, leadership, and character form the bases of selection for National Honor Society, considered to be the greatest honor that can come to those who have made their mark upon the Nappanee High School scene. This year there were twelve members, three from the junior class and nine from the senior class. Under the leadership of Mr. Paul Hartle the group finished and displayed, in the new school, the names of all National Honor Society members from the date of its chartering in 1936 to the present date. The society also revised and distributed activity record cards to be brought up to date by students in grades nine through twelve.

On the social side, the society inaugurated a Christmas tea, which was a reunion of the members of the two previous years, and the present members. Because of the success of this tea, the society voted that it should become an annual affair.

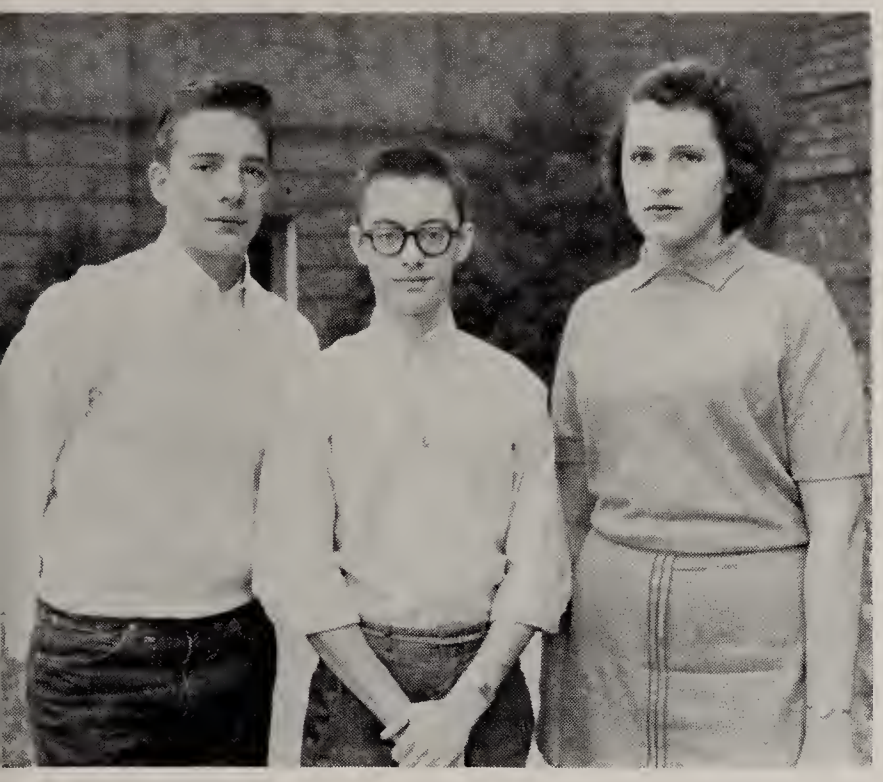
The Governing Body of N. H. S.



Eddie Combs, Jim Clouse, and Martha Hartman are in charge of seeing that everything in the Student Council runs smoothly.

Solutions for many problems arising in our new school, locker inspections, choosing assembly programs for the next year, decorating the Christmas tree, supervising cheer-leader elections, and the crowning of a "Blue and White Queen" were all a part of the many activities performed by the Student Council.

Through the Student Council the entire student body is represented; members are able to meet with the administrators to discuss the various problems that arise throughout the school year.

All of the Student Council committees worked together with Mr. Weddle and the officers to make this a memorable year for the entire student body.

Singing Through the Year

Approximately sixty students of Nappanee High School blended their voices this year to form the high school chorus under the direction of Miss Peg Atkinson. The group combined with the band to present their annual Christmas Concert at the Community Building. The chorus again blended melodious voices on March 28 for their Spring Concert.

The Mixed Ensemble, the Girls' Double Sextet, the Boys' Ensemble, and the Mixed Quartet were small groups chosen from the chorus. These groups, along with several soloists, participated in the District and State Solo and Ensemble Contests in February. These musicians entertained at several local religious and club meetings.

Coaches pace—Managers labor—Gridders strive—Cagers shoot—Cindermen scurry—

The football, basketball, and track games require the talents of the players, plus the skill of the coaches. Our athletic department, being a firm believer in clean sportsmanship, several years ago organized an N-Men's Club in our school. The objectives of this club are to instill competitive spirit, confidence, courage, and control among the boys.

As a climax to a great year in sports, an annual banquet honoring the athletes and the coaches was held in the spring. Awards for the most valuable player in each sport and for the most valuable senior player were given.

The sponsors of the club were Mr. Joseph Springer and Mr. Jerry Young.

The G.A.A. girls prove that boys aren't the only ones who can play baseball or basketball! Besides playing in team sports, the girls may display their athletic skill during the year by participating in various individual activities.

Every Wednesday or Thursday night the Junior G.A.A or the Senior G.A.A. held their respective meetings. At these meetings the girls played deck tennis, volleyball, softball, tennis, badminton, and basketball. During the fall the girls bowled. Several playdays in neighboring towns were also held during the year.

The climax to a wonderful year was the awarding of numerals and monograms to the girls earning the proper number of points.

Our sponsor was Mary Klopfenstein.

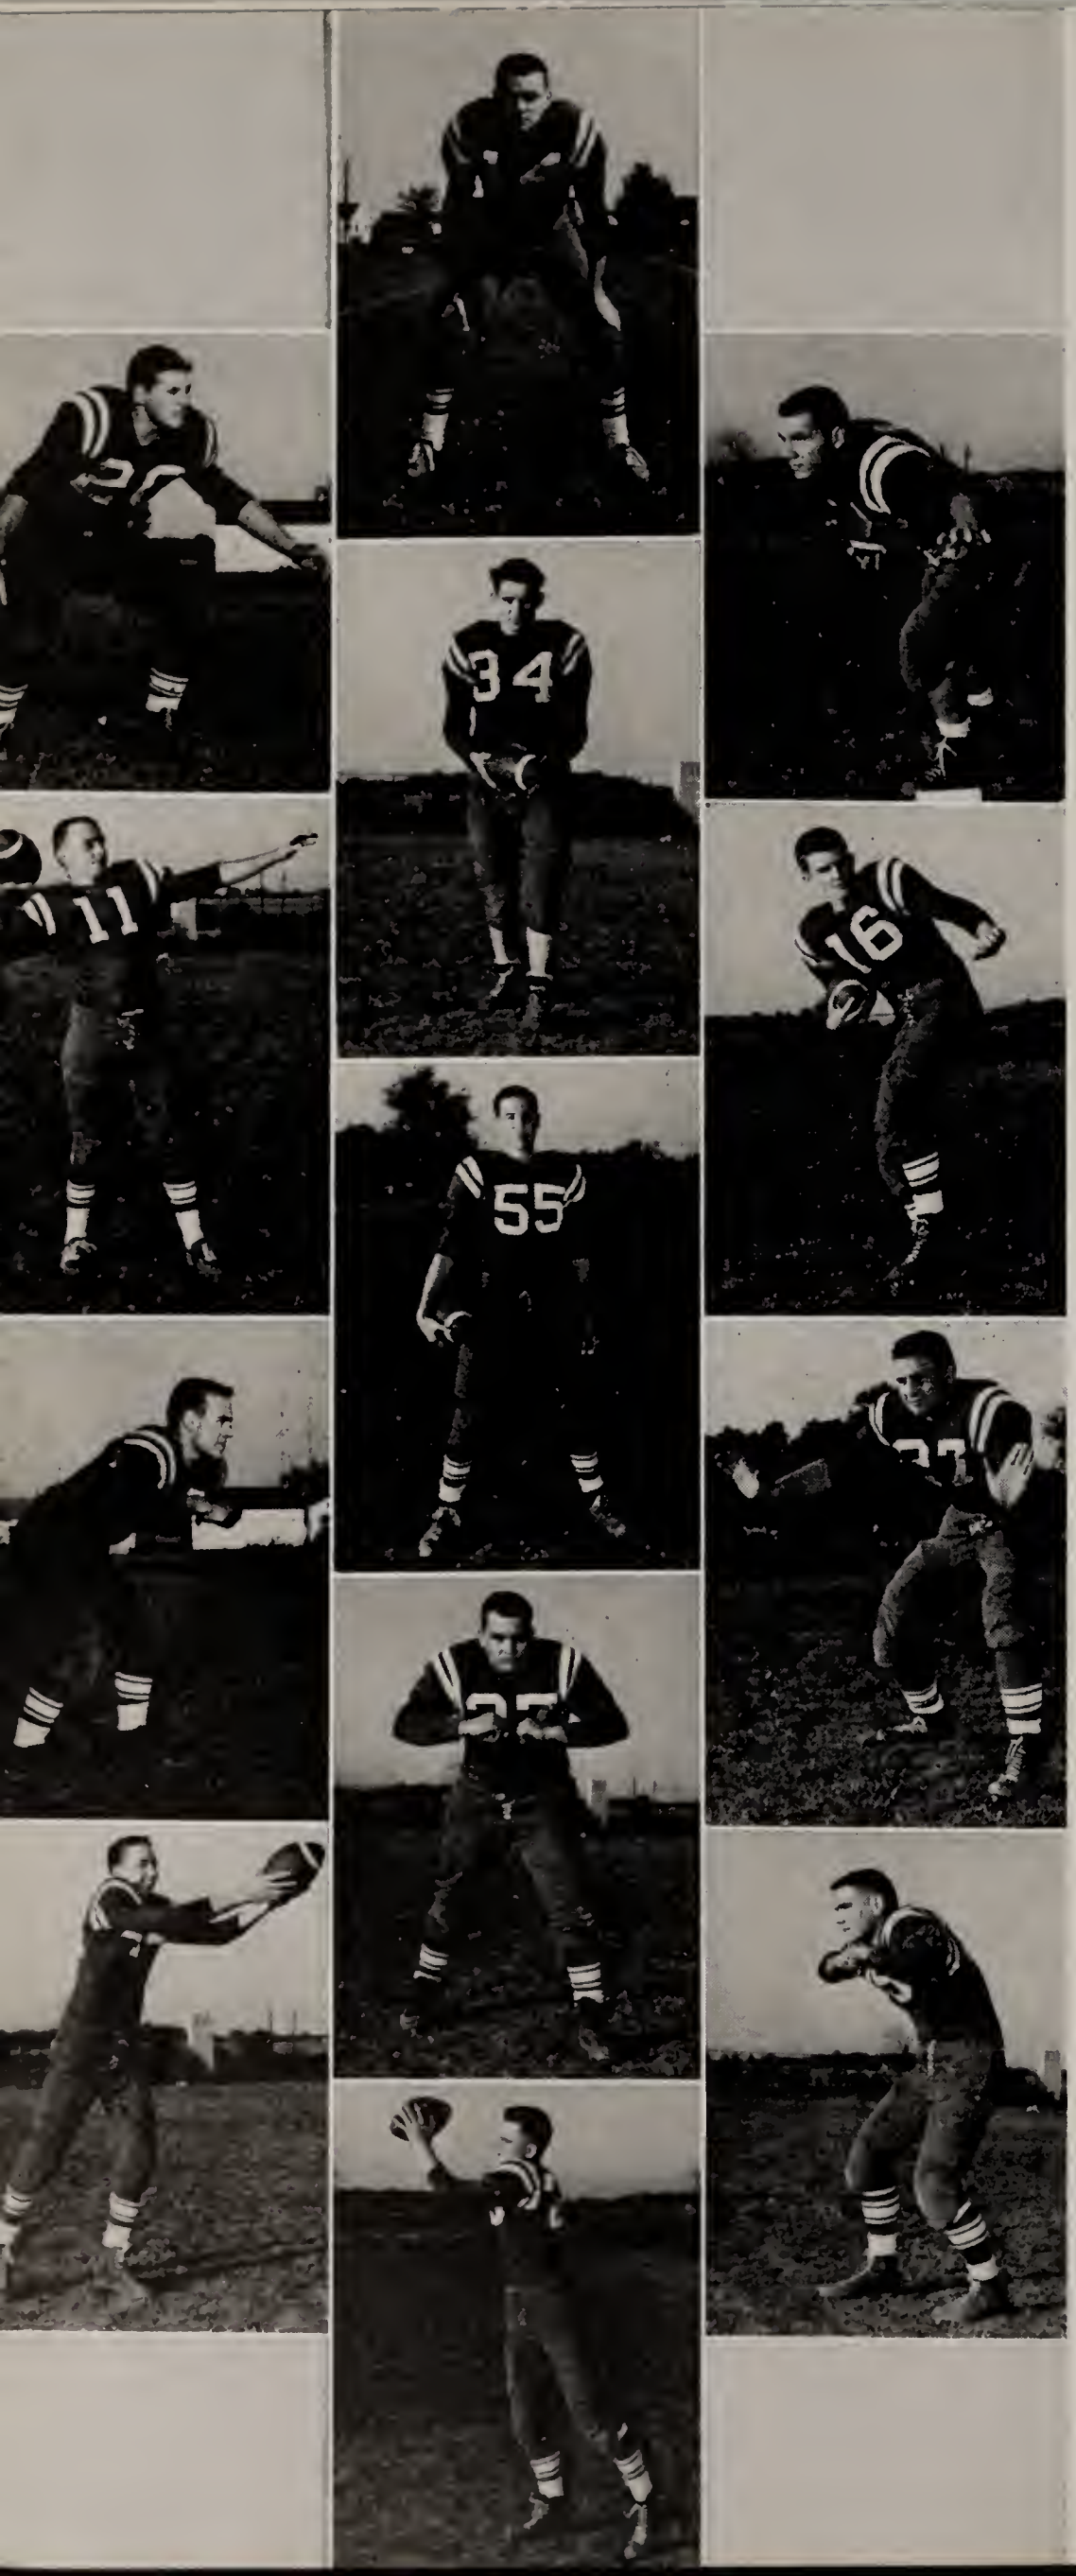
For N. H. S.

Athletics will always play a great part in the training of a teen-age boy. Sports not only teach him to fight to win, but they develop in him the spirit of good sportsmanship.

Our N. H. S. football, basketball, and track teams have competed well with other schools.

They have done a remarkably good job. During the past year we established several records that will add to our already well-earned laurels.



Victory

The Bulldogs had an exceptionally fast backfield consisting of halfbacks Jim Hamsher and Dave Geyer, fullback Jim Fields, and quarterback Larry Cripe.

The line was made up of tackles Ed Keim, Harry Hood, Bill Stouder, and Jim Stouder, ends Jack Stump and Dan Slabaugh, center John Kendall, guard Roger Evans, and All-State guard Gene Heckaman.

11 Wins 10 Losses

The Bulldogs were under the direction of two new coaches this year, head coach Jerry Young and assistant coach Richard Hendricks.

The Naps were handicapped by the lack of height this season with sophomore Jim Stouder taking top honors at 6'2". In spite of having small boys the scrappy Bulldogs ended with eleven wins and ten losses for the season's record.

The Naps downed Plymouth 57 to 55 in a triple overtime, which proved to be the season's most thrilling game, thus avenging an earlier loss to Plymouth in the Holiday Tournament.

Kaaren Chandler, Diek Combs, Jim Rood, Pat Masterson, Diek Pippenger, Roy McDonald, Randy Richmond, Lee Priee, and Charles Blevins were secretaries for the various intramural sports.

Nappanee High School was very active in intramural sports this year. Under the supervision of Paul Hartle students participated in such activities as basketball, bowling, ping-pong, and checkers.

Baseball, although not actually a school activity, played a major role in boys' athletics throughout the summer months. Ping-pong champions were Roy McDonald, Jerry Lambert, and Gary Stutzman. Jim Rood held honors as the best checkers player.

There were basketball games on Monday nights and bowling leagues after school on Mondays and Tuesdays from November until February.

Nurse and Bookstore

Anna Woodhams, our school nurse, checked equipment from her supply cabinet.

Nurse Annie Woodhams completed her yearly routine of detecting measles and mumps, of "merthiolating" scratches and bruises for us at N.H.S.

Mr. White, with the help of his student-assistants, maintained a bookstore that supplied books, paper, and other items essential to good school work.

Bookstore supplies were sold before school in the morning and at noon by Martha Hartman, Sharie Hoyt, Susie Calbeck, and Carolyn Yeager.

The class of '58 has completed its final year in high school. These seniors left behind many memories of honors which they received in high school. Some of these honors came through athletic participation, some through scholastic competition, and some through extra-curricular activities. The seniors were very busy during the year selling concessions at the wrestling matches and basketball games. Their main class projects were selling candy and presenting the traditional class play, whose profits helped swell the treasury for the senior trip.

Although their book of high school life has come to its last chapter, its sequel is just the beginning of another life in an entirely different world.

Vice-President _____ Larry Nunemaker
Secretary-Treasurer _____ Martha Hartman

We, the class of '59, started the year with a very successful magazine sale. Our goal was $3,000. We passed our goal with Larry Nunemaker as top salesman, and Mrs. Miles' homeroom was the class high in sales.

In March the committees were chosen for the reception. We all had fun planning the reception for the seniors.

Our Student Council and National Honor Society members were Michael Pippenger, Carole Armold, Richard Pletcher, and Martha Hartman.

Our patient and helpful sponsors were Mrs. Miles and Mr. Postma.

President _____ Steven Hockert
Vice-President _____ Michael Mitchell
Secretary-Treasurer _____ Portia Mutschler

We, the class of '60, feel that our second year in Nappanee High School has been a happy, beneficial one, due to the helpful guidance of our sponsors Mr. Hartle, Mr. Hazelrigg, and Mr. Copeland.

In order to increase the funds in the treasury all the class members co-operated in the sale of mints and peanut brittle.

The main social activity was our roller skating party which provided lots of fun along with many bumps and bruises.

The members chosen to represent us in the Student Council were Steven Price, George Freese, and James Stouder.

With two of our high school years down and two to go, we review the past with a feeling of satisfaction of accomplishment, and look to the future with enthusiasm and determination for greater years socially and educationally.

President _____ Robert Lehman
Vice-President _____ Daniel Geyer
Secretary-Treasurer _____ Mary Duckwall

The Freshman class officers were elected at the beginning of the school year. LaVonda Stahly, Sandra Thomas, and Steven Quigley represented our class on the Student Council.

Our biggest project this year was the traditional Freshman paper drive, which took place in the spring. Our sponsors were Miss McBee, Mr. Stutzman, and Mr. Hendricks.
